ASSMC Financial Set-up Revamped Following Revival of Budget Committee by Ex Council

Collegian Editorial Staff Leads Brief Drive Which Brings Change in Spending Policy

A short lived drive on the part of the COLLEGIAN editorial staff to bring about a revamping of the ASSMC financial set-up was culminated successfully this week following the adoption of two motions relative to financial matters by the executive council.

Pointing out the finance committee, which has handled the disbursing of ASSMC funds since the start of the present semester, was impractical, William Bettencourt, COLLEGIAN sports editor and senior class representative, moved that the finance committee be abolished.

In its place was created a budget committee consisting of Joseph Donnelly, senior student, and Bettencourt.The motion to create a body to succeed the finance committee was made by Alvin Quittman, COLLEGIAN editor.

Report Requested

A report on the condition of the treasury was also requested by the COLLEGIAN editor, who pointed out that the council had been voting money since the start of the semester without knowing just how much money was at its disposal.

An appropriation of ten dollars was voted to send 13 members of the International Relations club to the regional conference being held today and tomorrow at Dominican College in San Rafael, following a motion to that effect by Donnelly.

Scenting possible dirty work, ex council chairman William Glackin polled the voting members of the council to discover the number of International Relations club members in the student governing body. Donnelly was the only representative admitting to membership in the peace club.

Song to be Heard

Reports on the possibility of direct broadcasts of the Fordham game were given by Joseph Crosby and Bettencourt.

The new fight song written by Brother Alfred, professor of physics, was discussed at the meeting, and following much discussion was tabled until the following week, when it is planned to have an audition of the song.

Juniors Select Dance Orchestra

Jimmy Howard Signs To Play for Bronco Post-Game Affair

Signing of Jimmy Howard's band, one of the finest in Northern California, to play at the Santa Clara post game dance was announced this week by Tom Feeney of the dance committee.

The affair will be based on the theme, "Meet the Gridders." All members of both squads will be in attendance, as well as members of the student bodies of each school.

The dance will be held at the luxuriously appointed Colonial room of the Saint Francis hotel, one of the most beautiful ballrooms in the city. There will be refreshments directly adjacent to the ballroom, and tables for all in separate niches.

Bids Sell for $1.25

After considerable discussion, it was decided to set the price of the bids at $1.25, a remarkably low price for a dance of this type. Expenses are being partially defrayed by a raffle of four tickets to the Santa Clara game. The drawing will be held November 9 in the college dining hall.

Howard's band is one of the few in the country that feature an electric organ in combination with the conventional instruments. He also features two lovely feminine vocalists. The band is slated to follow Joseph Sudy at the Sir Francis Drake hotel in San Francisco.

The junior class is sponsoring the affair and committee members, besides Feeneyfi are: August Gaspar, William Fitzgerald, and David Cunningham.

Tickets

Students wishing preferred seats for the Santa Clara game on November 13 are reminded that today is positively the last day for the filing of preferred seat applications.

Direct Broadcast Of Ram Game Seen

Hopes High That One Of Two Networks Will Air Encounter

Student hopes for a direct broadcast of the Saint Mary's-Fordham game to be played in New York on November 5 were boosted this week, following reports by Joseph Crosby, chairman of the committee named to secure a direct broadcast, and by William Bettencourt, COLLEGIAN sports editor.

The Mutual Broadcasting System will put the game on the air providing that the commercial rights for the broadcast have not already been sold, and providing that a coast to coast hook-up is possible, Crosby said.

Crosby's information was procured through the efforts of Thomas Foudy, director of sports publicity, who contacted a high ranking official of the Mutual network before leaving for New York.

Another Possibility

A possibility that the game may be aired by Columbia, and released locally through KSFO was voiced by Bettencourt following the reception of a letter from the sports editor of the Fordham paper.

The letter stated that Ted Husing, noted sports commentator, would probably handle the contest for Columbia, but nothing definite was known.

Further hope that the contest would be aired was gleaned from the fact that Coach "Slip" Madigan said that the commercial rights for the game had not been sold late this summer, and that consequently the broadcast was far from an impossobility.

Second Most Important

The two networks reported that the only game ranked higher than the Saint Mary's-Fordham intersectional clash was the traditional Notre Dame-Navy game, one of the highlights of the eastern grid season.

Mutual has nothing scheduled for the hours that the game is to be played, Crosby reported, while Columbia has not released its schedule for that week, he said.

Broadcast Definite!

Definite assurance that the Saint Mary's-Fordham game will be broadcast over a nation-wide hookup was received here late yesterday, thereby successfully culminating the ASSMC drive to bring about a direct broadcast of the encounter.

Information to the effect that the game would be carried on the ether lanes by KSFO of the Columbia Broadcasting System was relayed to the students by Brother Patrick, dean of resident students.

Notre Dame Varsity Will Visit Saint Mary's in December

Reversing the usual procedure whereby travelers make it a point to visit Notre Dame, the Notre Dame football team will tour the Saint Mary's campus following the Notre Dame-USC game in early December, according to reports received here yesterday from the special train carrying the Gaels to New York.

The representatives of the famed South Bend institution will be guests of Edward "Slip" Madigan, director of athletics, at a breakfast in San Francisco, and will then be taken upon a tour of the Saint Mary's campus.

Oliver Contest Entrants Await Essay Deadline

30 Students Vying For Three Cash Prizes Offered

With no less than thirty contestants entered in the Oliver Essay contest this year, the final meeting of the group to write the essay will be held in one of the class rooms in Galileo hall next Thursday.

The contestants will vie for three prizes of 75, 50, and 25 dollars respectively for the first three awards. The topic this year will be a general theme on "Catholicity and American Citizenship."

Essays submitted should be in the vicinity of six thousand words and are to be done in class under the supervision of a member of the faculty. Entrants in the contest will begin writing at nine o'clock and continue through the day and night, if necessary, until the essays are completed.

A short outline and a few notes may be brought into the class by the contestants, Brother Henry, who is managing the competition, announced at a meeting last Monday.

The purse of $150 is taken from a fund created by Bartley P. Oliver, oldest living alumnus of the college and is awarded each year to the three undergraduates writing the best essays.

Last year the winners were Jack Reilley, Joseph Donnelly, and Lawrence Webber. Reilley and Webber have graduated, but Donnelly is again competing this year.

Students already lined up for the contest include William Bettencourt, James Dowd, Wally Garard, Joseph Cone, John Williams, Paul Johnson, Bill Glackin, Charles Carroll, Alvin Quittman, seniors; Philip Kearney and Felix Castagnola, juniors; George Dacres, Leo Haggerty, Lester Dole, John Kelly, Raymond Foley, Lloyd Gallardo, sophomores; Earl Kloppenburg, Horway Witteman, and William Morrison, freshmen; and Brothers Lewis, James Damian, and William.

Holy Names Supper Dance Hits Snag

Social Committee Delays Final Vote Until Later Date

ASSMC plans to sponsor a supper dance with the College of Holy Names received a setback yesterday when the social committee refused to sanction the proposed affair on the grounds that it would interfere with the Frosh "Thank You" dance to be given this semester.

Although the action of the committee was not final, consideration of the request was shoved ahead to a later date.

The social committee also ruled on the application of the junior class for permission to sponsor a post-game dance at the Saint Francis hotel following the Saint Mary's-Santa Clara game on November 13.

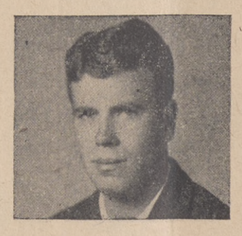

Provisional permission to go ahead with the dance plans was given the juniors following a personal appearance before the committee of August Gaspar, class president.

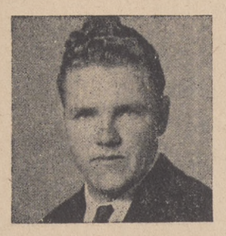

The juniors will be required to submit a report of advance sale of bids on November 5, and if the sales are in proportion to the expenses for the evening the final permission will be given to hold the event.

Members Added to Recently Enlarged President's Council

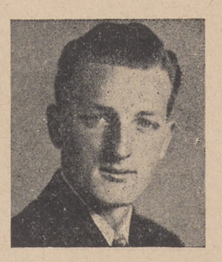

Two new members were added to the recently enlarged President's council, when Brother Jerome, chairman of the school of economics and business administration, and Brother Alfred, chairman of the school of science, attended the first meeting of the fall semester.

The council, which holds monthly meetings to determine the smooth conduct of scholastic and other administration policies now has seven members: Brother Albert, president; Brother Patrick, director of resident students; Brother Victor, recorder; Mr. William J. Milliken, comptroller; Brother Alfred, Brother Jerome, and Brother Virgil.

Fordham or Bust, Slogan of Four

Not content to let the football squad compete against the Fordham Rams without a rooting section, Norman McPhail, Glen Sinnott, Robert Smith, and Thomas Feeney followed the excursion train by auto Thursday.

Senior Skating Party Wednesday

Holy Names Students Invited to Attend By Event Chairman

To the rhythmic strains of the electric organ, the members of the senior class and their friends will embark on a roller skating party next Wednesday evening at the Junior Rollerdrome in Oakland.

Committeemen George Carter and Thomas Sheridan announce that over three hundred tickets have been put on sale on the campus and elsewhere, and an overflow crowd is expected. Sheridan indicated that it would be wise for those wishing to attend to get their tickets now, as only a limited supply is on hand.

Campus interest has been aroused by this affair, the first of its kind in several years. Many calls have been received by the committee from feminine charmers wishing tickets. That the fairer sex will be represented in large numbers was assured when Carter invited the student body of Holy Names College to be present.

It was announced late this week that a door prize will be awarded to the holder of the lucky ticket. The nature of this prize has not been revealed as yet, but it is expected to be a highly useful and ornamental trinket.

The Junior Rollerland is located at 11 Grand avenue, near Webster, in Oakland. It is but a few steps removed from the campus of Holy Names College.

The admission to the affair is 40 cents for students of the college.

Catholic Action Organizers Meet In SF Saturday

A faculty representative will attend the Conference for Catholic Teachers to be held tomorrow morning at the San Francisco College for Women in answer to a request received by Brother Albert from Sylvester Andriano, president of the Catholic Men of San Francisco and Saint Mary's graduate, class of '11.

Brother Bede Edward will most probably be appointed by Brother Albert, it was announced. Archbishop John J. Mitty is presiding at the conference which has been called to acquaint all Catholic educators with a new educational ideal, Catholic Action, which must be introduced into their teaching and into the Catholic schools.

It is hoped that the conference will bring about active cooperation of grade school teachers, high school teachers and college faculties, uniting in their respective groups to develop a program for Catholic Action in the schools.

Recently such a group was formed on the campus, and is steadily growing.

Frosh Select Date, Site for Annual 'Thank You' Dance

December 3 is the tentative date set for the Frosh Thank You dance, William McDonald, chairman of the dance committee, announced this week.

Music for the dance has not been selected as yet but Jack Kelly's sophomore orchestra is favored by the committee, McDonald said. Hotel Claremont will be the scene of the dance, in all probability.

Members of the committee planning the dance are McDonald, chairman, Ray Bates, George Arabian, Michael Desmond, and Jim Lankas.

The Frosh Thank You dance is a traditional affair given by the freshmen in appreciation of the Freshman Welcome dance, traditionally sponsored by the sophomore class earlier in the semester.

Dream Comes True as Six Students Leave on Automobile Trip to View Ram Game

The odds were 10 to 1, and with no takers, that they would never leave the campus. In fact, everybody looked upon the idea as one of those pipe dreams which one conjures during an uninteresting lecture.

So, the six dreamers departed from San Francisco yesterday morning bound for New York to watch the Saint Mary's-Fordham game on November 5. On the way they plan to do quite a little sightseeing, more commonly referred to as "rubber necking."

Smashing all precedent, Robert Smith, Thomas Feeney, Glen Sinnott, Kenneth Meitz, Joseph Hurley, and Norman McPhail were the dreamers who departed on a transcontinental automobile jaunt early yesterday.

This is the first time in the history of the Saint Mary's-Fordham athletic rivalry that a party of students has ever attempted to make the trip by auto, according to Brother Patrick, dean of resident students.

Many Obstacles Hurdled

Many obstacles had to be overcome by the tourists before official permission to make the long journey was received.

Sanction for the trip was received from the office of the recorder only after a careful check of the scholastic record of each student showed that they would not suffer too greatly if they missed classes for a period of two weeks.

Stumbling block number two in the path of the trail blazers proved to be Brother Albert, president of the college, who required a good deal of convincing before he finally put the official stamp of approval on the project.

Dykes Hunted

Following the obtaining of permission from the office of the recorder, and the president of the college, there began an intensive hunt for Harlan Hebe Dykes, coach of the Gael basketball team.

Basketball season is not far off, and three of the men making the journey are members of the varsity basketball squad which has just commenced practice for the coming season.

Needing Dykes' okeh to make the trip were Feeney, McPhail, and Meitz. McPhail is also ASSMC treasurer, there-

Campus Knights to Join in Communion

Hayward Will Be Scene of Bay Area KC Gathering

Saint Mary's council of the Knights of Columbus will join with other councils of the bay area in a Communion breakfast to be held in Hayward, Sunday, Harry Hooper, local grand knight, said during the week.

Professor Claude Silva, history instructor, has been invited to act as general toastmaster by the local council of Knights, Hooper said.

Mass will be celebrated at All Saints' Church, Hayward, followed by breakfast at the Club Alabam midway between San Leandro and Hayward.

Speaker of the morning will be the Reverend Raymond McGrory, S.J., of the University of San Francisco faculty. The affair will be sponsored by the councils of the ninth and tenth districts: Oakland, Berkeley, Contra Costa, Saint Mary's, Magellan, Centerville, and Alameda groups.

Chairman of the committee handling the event is Arthur Costa, grand knight of the Hayward council. Approximately five hundred KC men are expected to attend.

Two Radio Debates Head Schedule

Ether Lanes Carry US and Santa Clara Forensic Battles

Although the debate schedule for the next few weeks is the heaviest seen in these parts during the fall semester, forensic squad members were training their sights on the two radio debates which are to be held over station KSFO late in November and early in December.

On November 26 the local debaters will meet their perennial rivals from Berkeley on the topic, resolved: "That Roosevelt should be elected to a third term," according to John Williams, debate manager.

The topic for December 10, with Santa Clara as the opponent, is resolved: "That San Francisco is the cultural center of America." Saint Mary's will have the affirmative in both debates.

Competition Keen

Competition for the coveted radio debates is keen, according to Williams, and in order to decide the best men for the events, a ladder of the standing of squad members is being kept by William Simon, debating instructor.

Debaters will be selected who possess voices fitted to the peculiar requirements of radio speaking, William said.

Peninsula Debate

Debates with Santa Clara, Stanford and University of San Francisco are scheduled, but to date, only the team for the Santa Clara encounter has been named.

Joseph Donnelly and Alvin Quittman, senior students, will meet the Bronco debaters at Santa Clara on November 9, arguing the negative side of resolved: The United States should ally itself with Great Britain.

John Williams Wins Sullivan Tryouts

Debate Manager Will Represent College In Annual Contest

John Williams, debate manager, emerged victorious in the preliminary tryouts for the annual Sullivan oratorical contest held yesterday afternoon in the lounge, competing against two others.

The other competitors were John L. Sullivan, student body president, and Horway Witteman, freshman representative to the executive council and frosh debater.

Judges for the event were James L. Hagerty, professor of philosophy, Brother Cyprian, instructor in public speaking and English, and William Simon, debate coach.

Williams will compete later against representatives from Universities of San Francisco, Santa Clara, and Loyola of Los Angeles. Saint Mary's speakers have won the contest in the past three years, William Bourne being the winner last year.

The contest is sponsored by Ignatian council No. 35 of the Young Men's Institute in memory of the late Judge Jeremiah Sullivan, a great Catholic leader and a former member of that council.

Recorder's Box

There will be no school on Tuesday, November 1, a Holy Day of obligation.

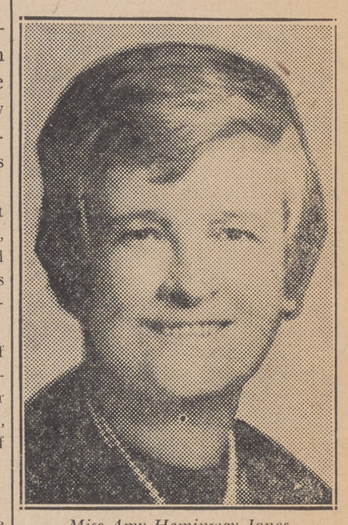

Peace Conference Opens Today At Dominican

13 Local Students Travel to San Rafael for Meet

Off campus today are 13 members of the Saint Mary's International Relations club, participating in the annual regional conference of peace clubs situated in the Northern California-Nevada area.

The event, which is being held at Dominican College in San Rafael, got under way this morning at 9:00, and will last until noon tomorrow, according to Charles Carroll, president of the local group.

Distinguished speakers will address the conference, made up of students from 14 colleges, as guests of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace whic sponsors groups of this type in colleges and universities throughout the country.

The speakers will include Miss Amy Heminway Jones, the Carnegie representative in charge of International Relations Clubs, and Dr. Malbone E. Graham, professor of political science at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Professor Newsom To Speak on India

Science Instructor Will Tell of Famous Mahatma Ghandi

Campusites with an urge to hear about India and its strange peoples will have their longing for knowledge satisfied in the near future when Henry J. Newsom, professor of engineering, addresses the student body in an informal talk to be given in the lounge.

Sponsor of the event will be the campus honor society, Alpha Phi Gamma Upsilon.

Professor Newsom will talk on his personal experiences in India, where he lived for many years working on various construction projects, according to William Dooms, APGU president.

Knew Ghandi Well

Among his friends in the land of mystery Professor Newsom lists Mahatma Ghandi, famed Indian political leader, who rose to prominence through his resistance against British rule in India.

Combination Rally At Brentwood Tuesday Night

A combination rally honoring the homecoming Brentwood high school football team and the Saint Mary's-Fordham football game is scheduled for Tuesday night in Brentwood, with entertainment coming mainly from campus talent, Ernest Russo, head yell leader, reported.

Headed by Judge Joseph Silva of that Contra Costa town, a complete and varied program has been arranged, a Brentwood theatre having been rented for the occasion.

Everyone is invited to the affair, Russo stated, and refreshments will be served. Everything is free, all necessary expenses encountered by the visitors being paid.

Here's First USF Gridder to Cross Moraga Goal Line in 6 Years!

The San Francisco Chronicle's "magic eye" shows how a U. S. F. sophomore crossed the Saint Mary's goal line last Sunday—a feat which no Don has done since 1932!

Three minutes after the second half had started, Bill Telesmanic caught Cliff Fisk's 25-yard pass on the Gaels' 20. Lou Rimassa overtook him—but Telesmanic already was in the end zone.

Gael Gossip

by BILL BETTENCOURT

MIKE KLOTOVICH, that brilliant and sensational triple-threat left halfback of the Gaels, is the best backfield man on the Pacific coast and one of the best in the country today.

By making such a statement, we're leading with our chin. But, looking at the statement calmly, isn't it the truth?

A pro-California scribe, writing on the USF-Saint Mary's thrill-packed game of last Sunday, remarked in his column that Al Braga was the best man on the field, surpassing all others, even Klotovich.

Because the scribe admittedly is pro-California, his opinion carries little weight. If he had said Klotovich was the best player of the game, his argument of earlier this year to the effect that Vic Bottari is better than Klotovich would have suffered at least a little.

Bottari is a great runner, but Klotovich is a better one. In addition, Klotovich can out-punt and out-pass Bottari any morning, afternoon, or evening.

We maintan Klotovich can do these things today better than can Bottari with his experience!

There simply should be no doubt that Klotovich is better than Braga or Marv Mosconi.

There is no player in these parts to compare with Klotovich. Remember, it was Klotovich who led the Gaels during that first half to out-gain and out-play the Dons!

It was Klotovich who passed to Harry Aronson for the first Saint Mary's touchdown. It was Klotovich who intercepted a USF pass to halt a Don threat, and, on the next play, it was Klotovich who rambled more than 50 yards to score the second Moraga touchdown. And it was Klotovich who booted several sweet coffin-corner punts during that hectic last half.

No, sir! There isn't another halfback on the Pacific coast who can compare favorably with our Klotovich!

Have Some More Fresh, but Sour, Grapes!

"The Gaels will be heading eastward for Fordham tomorrow, but there was little in yesterday's business in which they can take pride...

"It was not until the fourth quarter that Saint Mary's could hustle over two quick touchdowns to snatch victory from a weaker, but better organized and harder fighting Don eleven."

So remarked another partisan (Santa Clara) scribe in his Monday column.

Why shouldn't the Gaels take pride in what they did? Didn't they do it in precisely the same manner California defeated Saint Mary's earlier this year after being out-played, out-gained, and out-fought by the Moragans?

Any team that can score two touchdowns as quickly as Saint Mary's did certainly must have plenty on the ball.

And what does he mean, "harder fighting Don eleven"? What did he want the Gaels to do? Stage a couple of fist fights as Stanford and USC, Oregon and Fordham did?

Come, come, friend!

Now, About that Post-Season Game . . .

If Saint Mary's does the unexpected and defeats Fordham and Santa Clara, a post-season game will be played at Kezar stadium early in December. Slip Madigan hasn't said this. But take our word for it!

Who will oppose the Gaels? Our first choice is Clipper Smith's Villanova eleven, if it completes another unbeaten season. Thus far the Smithmen have licked American International, 59-0; Muhlenberg, 25-7; Centre, 35-6; and Detroit, 13-6.

Villanova still must meet South Carolina, Auburn, Temple, Boston, Manhattan, and Loyola.

The last game, Loyola, is billed for December 18 in Los Angeles. If the Gaels play a post-season tussle, we think it must be played during the first two weeks of December.

Villanova meets Manhattan on November 24 and then rests until December 18. Which means Villanova and Saint Mary's are free to clash at Kezar on December 3, 4, 10, or 11.

Our second post-season choice is Texas Christian, which has marched past Centenary, 13-0; Arkansas, 21-14; Temple, 28-6; Texas A&M, 34-6, and Marquette, 21-0. The Christians still must face Baylor, Tulsa, Texas University, Rice Institute, and Southern Methodist.

We're forgetting about Holy Cross because the Crusaders dropped a 7-6 tilt to Carnegie Tech.

All that the Gaels now have to do is trim Fordham and Santa Clara. That's all!

Write a Card to a Gael in New York!

Those Fighting Gaels are scheduled to arrive in New York Tuesday afternoon, giving them four days to prepare for the Rams of Rose hill.

Regardless of what the Rams and Pittsburgh's Panthers do to each other tomorrow, next week's game will be a typical Gael-Ram embroglio. Those Rams are as tough as ever this year, so Tex Oliver's gridsters from Oregon will tell you.

Behind the Gaels next Saturday at the polo grounds will be no organized rooting section. But there's one way to let the team know we're praying for a Gael victory, and that way is by sending a post-card to one of the players at the Westchester Country club, Rye, New York.

Everyone of us has at least one close friend on that team—a roommate or a classmate. Drop him a line this weekend...and you know what to tell him!

The telegram which we will ask the executive council Wednesday to send to the team on behalf of the student body is not sufficient. Let's make it personal! Drop a penny card in the mail this week...and help lick mighty Fordham!

Hitting Targets with B. B. (Sports) Shots . . .

FORDHAM'S opponent tomorrow, PITTSBURGH, has met and defeated WEST VIRGINIA, 19-0; TEMPLE, 28-6; DUQUESNE, 27-0; WISCONSIN, 26-6, and SOUTHERN METHODIST, 34-7...

SAINT MARY'S gave the GOLDEN BEARS their toughest game of the season thus far, according to FRANK BULL and ERNIE SMITH...Here's how we rate Pacific coast teams: (1) SANTA CLARA, (2) CALIFORNIA, (3)

Game on Air!

CBS to Broadcast, Says 'Ram' Editor

That the Saint Mary's-Fordham game next Saturday definitely will be heard locally on a coast-to-coast hookup from New York was the assurance given Gael fans last night by the Fordham sports editor.

"As far as we know here at Fordham, the game will be broadcast directly to the Pacific coast with Ted Husing handling the mike for Columbia," was the word given Sports Editor Bill Bettencourt last night by Tom McLaughlin, sports editor of The Ram, Fordham student publication.

The northern California Columbia outlet, KSFO, has received no eastern football assignment yet for November 5, KSFO officials told Bettencourt last night, and no assignment is expected until Tuesday or Wednesday, it was reported.

In another big game that same afternoon, Notre Dame tangles with Navy.

Eire Oge Prepares For Athletic Season

Besides a soccer team, the Erie Oge has organized basketball and football teams, according to Jim Brady, Erie Oge president.

Leo Haggerty, a sophomore, has been appointed captain of the basketball team and Karl Orth has been appointed captain of the football squad.

A football game between the Erie and Dante clubs will take place sometime soon, reported Brady.

Scouts Fordham

Norman (Red) Strader, assistant coach of the Galloping Gaels, is in Pittsburgh. Pennsylvania, today, awaiting tomorrow's crucial battle between Fordham and Pittsburgh. Strader, one of the game's greatest strategists, will scout the Rams against the Panthers.

Dykes Calls for Varsity Signup

When Harlan Dykes returned to the campus in a taxicab, this week, he found his varsity basketball team working out vigorously in the gym.

Those who officially signed up for the team were Norman MacPhail, Tom Feeney, Al Andrade, Kenny Meitz, and Gordon Laird all letter men from last year's squad.

Karl Kaiser and Hal Woods, both of whom earned their frosh numerols last year; Bud Smith, a transfer from Marin junior college, who led the junior college league in scoring last year; Joe Noonan and Bill Spehar, concluded the signup.

Frosh Play Tonight in Oakland!

Meet San Jose Spartlets At Emeryville Ball Park

For the first time in more than a decade, a Saint Mary's football team will play in Oakland when Mal Fiese's Gaelets clash with Glenn Hartranft's San Jose yearlings tonight at the Oakland ball park, Emeryville.

The kickoff is set for 8:00 o'clock.

Last year the Gaelets and Spartlets tangled on the gridiron for the first time with the young Moragans winning, 19-0.

Copying Slip Madigan's tactics, Fiese this week shook up his eleven, sending previous first stringers down to the second and third ranks and bringing up previous second and third stringers.

In the Spartlets the Moraga babes are meeting a potentially strong team, according to Karl Orth, assistant coach, who scouted the Spartlets in their 19-0 victory over Menlo junior college last Friday night.

Dangerous Passers

The visitors are dangerous passers and use a wide-open offensive attack, Orth reported.

Hartranft's charges swamped Hollister junior college, 19-6, earlier in the season, but lost to the strong USF Muchachos, 13-0. The Muchachos licked the Fiesemen, 6-0, on Don Franceschi's 61-yard gallop. San Jose and Modesto junior colleges played a scoreless tie.

The Gaelets have licked Berkeley's prepsters, 12-0, and the San Francisco Boys club, 47-0. Humboldt tamed the Moragans last week, 19-0.

Fiese this week sent his warriors through heavy workouts in preparation for tonight's battle. Strenuous scrimmages were held earlier in the week, while defensive tactics against San Jose's wide-open offensive attack were practiced Wednesday and last night.

Name Officials

Officials for tonight's game will be Jack Gaddy, referee; George Holt, umpire; Jim Hole, head linesman, and Brick Johnson, field judge.

The probable starting lineups as released by the rival coaches are as follows:

Saint Mary's		San Jose
Engle	LER	Marlyhc
Henson	LTR	Chun
Zubey	LGR	McNown
Sheafe	C	Cottrell
Wilson	RGL	Mottola
Seminoff	RTL	Hearn
Poet	REL	Perkins
Snelling	Q	Lewis
McPartland	LHB	Clark
Boysen	RHL	Kasparovitch
Walters	F	Hubbell

Intramural Football

Seniors Triumph Over Frosh, 12-0

Seniors and juniors today are tied for first place standings in the intramural touch tackle football league as a result of victories by the two upper class elevens this week.

Featuring an aerial attack, the seniors downed the freshmen yesterday, 12-0, while the juniors trounced the sophomores, 26-0, Wednesday afternoon.

Jack Williams scored in the first quarter for the seniors, Harry Hooper making the second score in the third period.

Emmett O'Neill was the star of Wednesday's game, being credited with two touchdowns against the sophomores. Charley Peterson and Art Williams accounted for the other two scores of the juniors. Williams also converted twice.

The seniors and sophomores play next Wednesday, and Thursday will see the juniors clashing with the frosh.

Senor Moraga Predicts:

Perfection, a rare thing, was achieved by ze old Senor last week, and although I do not wish to brag, I did pick all five games correctly. The Don-Gael contest was a toughie, but the old master picked it right on the nose, 13 to 6. And how did you like that Santa Clara score?

Well, enough of that. This week the old Senor will strive to keep his perfect record with some more choice picks.

FORDHAM vs. PITTSBURGH: The toughest game of the week and one of the hardest to pick, but the Senor will not flinch. Pittsburgh in a very hard-fought contest although the Rams with Len Eshmont, their breakaway threat, will give them a lot of trouble. The Pitt "dream backfield" should ramble to a pair of touchdowns. Score: 13-0.

COMPLETE GAME COVERAGE NEXT WEEK

Here's how the COLLEGIAN will cover the Saint Mary's-Fordham game and trip for its readers next week:

1. Tom Foudy will telegraph the pre-game yarn on the eve of the game.

2. Tom McLaughlin, sports editor of The Fordham Ram, will telegraph a pre-game story with the Rose hill slant. (You'll enjoy what he has to say!)

3. Jack Crampton, varsity end, and Jack Sims, varsity halfback, and two ace COLLEGIAN reporters, will handle the human-interest features of the trip, game, and stay of the Gaels in New York.

4. Tom Feeney will ":Shadow the Gaels" from New York.

Here He Is, the Toast of California Fans!

By TOM FEENEY

EN ROUTE TO NEW YORK IN SMITH'S SEDAN, Oct. 28.—Notable this week was the return of the prodigal coach, Harlan Hebe Dykes.

The inimitable master of the tricks of basketball arrived in appropriate fashion in keeping with his peculiar quirks of character.

On Monday about three o'clock, students were surprised to see a yellow taxicab whizzing up to the center dorm and come to a screeching halt.

A taxicab on the campus, especially on Monday, is about as rare as the appearance of a dodo bird; so with consternation written on their faces students gathered about the cab.

And, lo and behold! Harlan, replete with mustache and overcoat, stepped out, and immediately hied himself over to the gym to get a look at this year's varsity hopefuls.

Now that he has returned, J. Edgar Hooover can call off the FBI men.

Strong Squad Expected

As soon as the "Silver General" gathered the boys together, he gave a nice little pep talk, emphasizing the fact that the squad should be much stronger this season.

"Last year my system was new to the men, and due to the fact that many seniors were on the squad, I had a hard time to change their style of play," said Harlan. "But this year the men are fairly familiar with my system and should be much better. In fact, in three weeks our team should be stronger than last year's team was at any time."

With this encouraging statement, the General wasn't content to stop.

He further stated that USC, UCLA, and Loyola would all be played this season, probably at Los Angeles.

The large turnout of frosh especially pleased the mentor, and he expects to turn out a top-notch freshman quintet.

Millicivich Sparks Team

Evident to fans last Sunday was the spirit and enthusiasm of Milo Millicivich, center on the second team, who sparked the team while he was in there.

Millicivich adds zest and speed to the team's play, for he comes out of the huddle and runs up to the ball like a scared rabbit. This helps to pep the squad up, and consequently they run the plays faster and with more enthusiasm.

On defense Millicivich made his share of tackles, and repeatedly broke through te line to just miss blocking punt after punt.

The Serbian Slav should come in handy against the Rams next week!

Slip Selects Squad

A Marigold to Slip Madigan for the manner in which he selected the members for the trip east.

After choosing 31 players who he thought deserved to go, he left it up to the squad to vote for the four remaining places. In this way it relieved him of the responsibility, and gave the team a chance to choose those whom they thought should make the trip.

The squad was wise in its choices, selecting Pete Sedar, Ken Hardy, Jim Matthews, and Bob Hartnyk to make the cross-country jaunt.

Setting Record

Emmett O'Neill, junior, and pitcher for the Phoenix, seems to be gunning for a new record.

Last Sunday "Bones" (as he is known to his friends) struck out 13 of the 15 men to face him in the winter league game which the Phoenix copped, 8 to 0.

In their other league game, O'Neill set down nine opposing batsmen via the strikeout route, which is a good average—22 in two games!

Gaelstatistics:

Klotovich Now Tied With Smith

As a result of his brilliant 53-yard touchdown gallop against the USF Dons, Al-America candidate Mike Klotovich today is in a first place tie with Herb (Whitey) Smith in the scoring column of the Gaels.

The touchdown was Halkback Klotovich's third of the season, giving him a total of 18 points. Smith also has scored three touchdowns.

Another change in the statistics is the addition of Harry Aronson's name. Aronson tallied his first touchdown of the season against the Dons.

List Scorers

Here are the boys who have done all of the scoring for Saint Mary's:

Little-Big Game Looms as Sellout, Reports Ed Tracy

The Saint Mary's-Santa Clara game is expected to be a sellout this year by Edward Tracy, Gael ticket manager. Sale of tickets to date surpasses last year's mark, Tracy announced.

Students desiring to apply for their allotted four-preferred tickets to the "little-big game" classic are warned that today is the deadline to put in their applications.

This week 12,000 tickets went on public sale in San Francisco, Oakland, and Berkeley, Tracy announced.

In San Francisco tickets may be purchased at the Hibernia Bank, Spalding's, Spiro's, Roos Brothers at Fourth and Market and Roos Brothers at Montgomery street, Crane Hotel, Barbaro Sporting Goods, and J. C. Millett.

Handling the sale of tickets in Oakland are Spalding's, Grimmett's, Kahn's, and Roos Brothers. Roos Brothers is the only Berkeley agency.

Where Are They?

Gallopers Today Are Visiting In Arkansas

Where are the Gaels today? Where will they be tomorrow? When do they reach New York?

Answering the first question first, the Gaels today are in Arkansas, visiting Hot Springs National park this afternoon. This evening the Gael party, excluding the gridsters, will be feted at a dinner-dance at the Hotel Arlington, one of the south's finest resort hotels.

Tomorrow the Madigan Special pulls into Kentucky. Luncheon will be served at the Mammoth Cave National park hotel. The Mammath Cave "a world in a world," is a vast underground wonderland of domes and pits, an endless variety of fantastic beauty.

Breakfast in W. Virginia

While the Gael travelers are finishing breakfast Sunday, the Special will be pulling into the station at White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia. Sunday afternoon there will be a swimming meet for the Californians in the Mosaic tiled swimming pool, one of the most beautiful indoor pools in the country.

For all except the gridders there will be dancing Sunday evening at the Greenbrier Casino.

Reach Richmond Monday

Richmond, Virginia, will be reached Monday, and Monday night Washington, D. C., will be spotted and visited.

Breakfast will be served in Philadelphia Tuesday morning, and Tuesday afternoon the California party reaches New York at 2:00 p.m. E.S.T., or 11 a.m., P.S.T.

While Gael fans will stay at the swanky Waldorf-Astoria, the varsity and coaching staff will put up at the Westchester Biltmore country club, Rye, New York, ritzy Gotham headquarters of the Gaels.

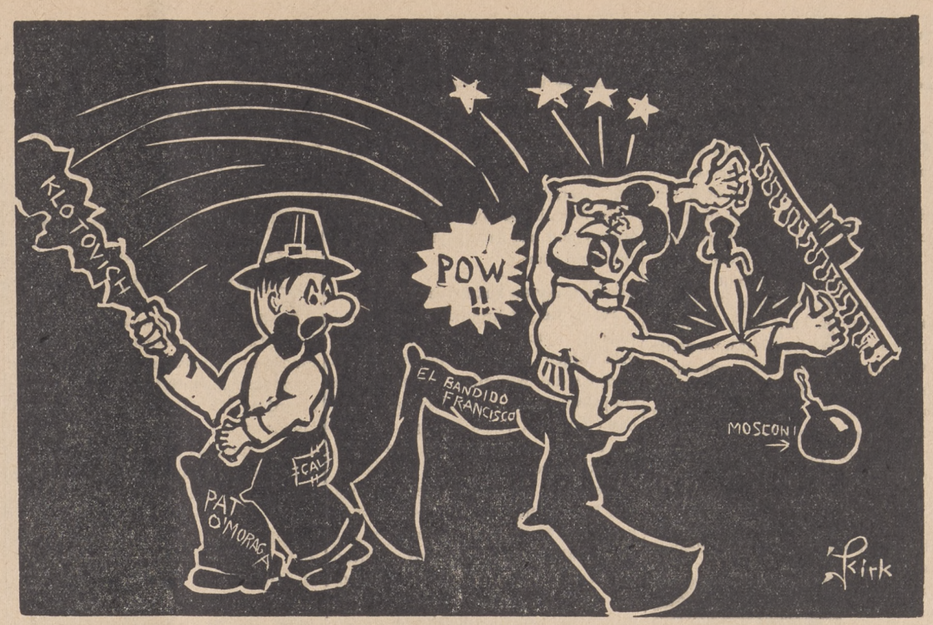

All mail intended to reach the football players should be mailed to the Westchester country club, Rye, New York.

Danilovich Gets Footall Post

Jack Danilovich, former Gael center, has been selected to succeed Dick Boyle as head football coach at Antioch high school, it was announced this week.

Boyle will go to San Francisco state in November as head coach.

Coach at Weed high school for the past two years, Danilovich leaves a near perfect record at the Siskiyou school.

Sure, an' He Hit 'im Twice!

Another Phoenix Win!

Moragans Tally 8-0 Victory

Winning their second straight Berkeley Winter league game, the Fighting Phoenix downed the Berkeley Native Sons, 8-to-0, last Sunday morning at the San Pablo park in Berkeley.

Featured in the heavy-hitting attack of the Moragans were Al Gonnella, shortstop, and Ray Tran, second base. Both are sophomores.

Gonnella knocked out a four-ply smack over the right field wall, while Tran collected two hits in four trips at the plate.

Dividing pitching honors on the hill were Emmett O'Neill and Earl Johnson.

Because of the CYO all-star game in San Francisco, there will be no tilt for the Phoenix this week, according to Al Lingua, coach of the Phoenix during play in the Berkeley loop.

The local nine won the opening game two weeks ago by beating the Orinda Reds, 6-1.

Invite Oxford Team

Invitation to Oxford university ruggers to compete at the 1939 California World's Fair on Treasure Island against California collegiate teams has been calbed to the English school.

Predicts:

SANTA CLARA vs. MICHIGAN STATE: The Broncos will continue to roll on the way to another Sugar Bowl trip, but they will meet unexpected resistance. The Staters have a good back in Pingel, and should score on the Prune Pickers. Look for a close battle in the early periods, but the Broncos' superior reserves will tell. Score: 19-7.

NOTRE DAME vs. ARMY: After winning because of a referee's boner last week, the Irish should breeze home against Army. The West Pointers are weak this season, but will be in there fighting to the finish. The Fighting Irish will score early. Score: 21-0.

CALIFORNIA vs. OREGON STATE: The Golden Bears will hurdle a small obstacle in the Oregonians, and should continue to roll on to their second straight Rose Bowl encounter. Look for Anderson to tear the Staters' line apart. Score: 21-6.

UCLA vs. STANFORD: The Senor can't see the Indians without Fay or Paulman attempting to throttle a good Bruin outfit. Kenny Washington will pass and run the Uclans to victory. Score: 13-0.

Patricia Shaw, Coach Buck Shaw's daughter, sat through the Arkansas game with a piece of the Stanford goal post clutched in her hand.

Yearlings Lose!

Humboldt Wins 19-0 Aerial Tilt

On a sloppy field at Eureka Sunday, the Saint Mary's frosh lost their second game of the season at the hands of Humboldt state by a 19-0 score.

All of the touchdowns made by the staters came by way of the air. A blocked kick in the first quarter on the Saint Mary's 25-yard line paved the way for the first score of the game.

Later in the third quarter a fumble deep in Saint Mary's territory was recovered by the staters and their second touchdown came soon after on another pass.

Score Around End

The last score of the game was madeb y an end around for about 15 yards, the conversion was good, and the scoring for the day was over.

The staters could not penetrate the Gael line, so took to the air and found a weakness.

On ground gains the Moraga yearlings stole the show.

Several hundred Eureka fans turned out regardless of the rainy weather, proving that Saint Mary's is always a drawing card in Eureka.

George Arabian, first string quarterback, started for the first time this year. Arabian has been on the sidelines with a leg injury sustained earlier this year.

Victory No. 4

Gaels Win 13-6 Thriller from San Francisco

Displaying that true Saint Mary's fighting spirit for which the Galloping Gaels are famous, the Marauding Moragans last Sunday at Kezar stadium came from behind in the last six minutes of a wild and thrilling ball game to smother the University of San Francisco Dons by a 13-6 score.

It was the fourth consecutive win of the Gaels.

Although displaying superiority in some instances during the first half of the game, the Gaels were unable to score until half of the final period had elapsed.

The Dons completed a long pass from Cliff Fisk to Bill Telesmanic for six points in the third quarter. They failed in the conversion attempt.

Saint Mary's tying touchdown came about with the insertion of the Red and Blue second string into the tilt at the start of the fourth quarter. The scrappy seconds went to work immediately and on successive downs drove deep into USF territory, where they lost the ball on downs.

On receiving the returning kick, they repeated, but this time scored when Harry Aronson neatly nabbed Mike Klotovich's heave and scampered over the goal line after shaking three Dons.

In the most exciting and crucial play of the game, Nick Katzmeyer was called from the bench to attempt the place kick for the all-important conversion point. The fighting Gael line held perfectly and Nick's kick sailed straight over the crossbar and far into the stands for the needed point.

Within a few minutes the Moragans scored again when Klotovich, behind the first team, raced 53 yards around right end. The sophomore half was the outstanding ground gainer of the day, carrying the ball eleven times for an average of 7.7 yards per carry. Saint Mary's outgained the Dons 208 yards to 95 yards from scrimmage, but were outgained by 30 yards in the air.

15 Frosh Cagers Begin Practice

Fifteen freshmen this week signed up for their class team, according to Coach Harlan Dykes, and more are expected to report next week, Dykes announced.

The 15 are Jim Logan, Ed Prendiville, Frank Miller, Glenn Weir, Frank Boyle, Tony Sporcich, Marston Tholl, Joe Connolly, Willard Morrison, Dale Arata, Ilo Scatena, Jim Callan, Jim Kirwin, Jack Tuite, and Frank Taylor.

on present-day national situations. A discusison of "Europe and International Security" will be headed by Alvin Quittman, COLLEGIAN editor.

Prepared to head round table confabs were Joseph Donnelly, senior honor student, and John Williams, debate manager. However, representatives from other colleges requested the topics assigned to Donnelly and Williams, Carroll reported.

Participants Listed

Saint Mary's men taking part in the conference are James Rarig, Robert Fleitz, James Moore, George Carter, Thomas Heidenreich, Paul Johnson, John Sullivan, David Cunningham and Thomas Sheridan, in addition to Carroll, Quittman, Donnelly and Williams.

Institutions taking part in the event are San Jose, San Francisco and Chico state colleges, the universities of San Francisco, Stanford and Nevada, College of the Pacific, Mills College, San Francisco College for Women, Holy Names College, Dominican and Saint Mary's.

Transportation costs to the conference are being paid by the student body following the voting of $10 for that purpose at the last meeting of the executive council.

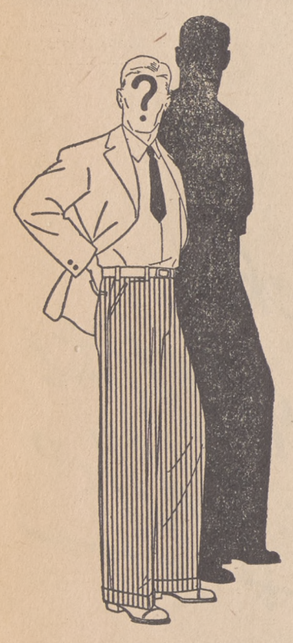

The peace club movement is widespread, there being 854 clubs in the world with 685 of them in the United States. Last year's conference was held on the Mills' College campus.

Senior Sketches

By Roger Heidenreich

All of us have at one time or another seen a picture entitled "The End of the Trail.." It is a picture of a lone Indian sitting astride a drooping and dejected horse. The rider is wounded and sits hunched over the horse's withers. At first glance, the scene conveys the idea that the Indian is the last of his tribe. Here on Saint Mary's campus, we have a lone survivor, but he is neither wounded—nor dejected—nor on a horse. The name of this man is James Robertson and he is the last member of the famous Barney Google Terriers—or infamous, just depending upon whose side you take.

A word about this organization. Two years ago, the Terriers were the scourge of the intramural leagues. They cleaned house in football and baseball and if we can believe the last member left, they really raised —— in general on the campus.

James Robertson

Baseball and football were the poodles' dish and Lefty, as Robertson is known to his intimates, was one of the Terrier regulars.

Was On the Phoenix

Robertson is or was—he graduates at Christmas—a member of the Phoenix, on which he played right field and first base. While he was a member of this famous aggregation, he maintained a batting average of .300 for three years which, so they tell us, is hitting in any league. Incidentally he has won a letter in each of his three years.

Lefty has been on the COLLEGIAN staff for four years and has risen from writing sports in his freshman year to writing a column on the back page known as Collegiana. When we asked him how he liked newspaper work he said, "Not bad, but I'd like it a lot better if it was the kind of work that you see it made out to be in the movies." We can readily imagine Robertson out chasing news for the city editor—almost!

Our visitor today comes from Stockton and he is a member of the APGU. Last year, he was president of the society. Also, he belongs to the Block SM society and has been a member of the debating team.

He Is Easy to Interview

When we got around to asking our difficult questions, he gave us a grin which was very disarming and said he did not mind discussing the subjects with us. "Heck," he said. "If I don't tell you, you'll only go out and get it from someone else." Smart boy, this Robertson.

We asked him about the fairer sex and he said that he was not a woman hater. Did he have any preferences? No. He got along nicely with any of them. He likes to dance and attends most of the social affairs given by the school; but in spite of this, he does not consider himself a social butterfly.

His favorite pastime is sleeping and we were forced to wake him to obtain this interview. At several stages of the ordeal, he dozed and had to be prodded into wakefulness.

Robertson is majoring in history and plans to teach when he has finished his schooling. Just now, he is undecided as to whether he will continue at California or College of the Pacific.

Football Man Wins Slick Pair Of Corduroys

If you have been reading your advertisements regularly, you will have noticed that of Capwell, Sullivan & Furth.

The heading "CAMPUS CORDS MAN OF THE WEEK" attracted our attention, and we read that every week until further notice, Capwell, Sullivan & Furth would give to some student on our campus a pair of the genuine Can't Bust 'Em Campus Cords.

These are the corduroy trousers that are university styled, and have met with the approval of western university men for over two decades.

Every week, a student committee elects an undergraduate to receive a pair of Campus Cords—some one student, who, in their opinion has contributed something worth while to the alma mater—in sports, or studies.

This week, Mike Klotovich gets his pair of Campus Cords for his outstanding play in the USF game.

The committee making these awards consists of John Sullivan, president ASSMC; William Glackin, vice-president; Bill Bettencourt, sports editor, THE COLLEGIAN; John Crosby, ad manager.

Watch for the committee's next "Campus Cords Man of the Week" award. We think that Capwell, Sullivan & Furth have a swell merchandising stunt—and we're strong for it.

Brother B. Edward Leaves Tonight for Phoenix, Arizona

Entraining tonight for Phoenix, Arizona, will be Brother Bede Edward, Ed.D., inspector general of schools for the province of San Francisco for the Brothers of the Christian Schools.

Appointed recently by Brother Jasper, F.S.C., provincial of the district, Brother Bede Edward will contact various communities in the interest of the educational work in which the Saint Mary's faculty is concerned.

The southern trip, one of many which the newly appointed inspector is expected to make during the current scholastic year, will terminate on Wednesday morning, when Brother Bede Edward returns to take up again his sessions with classes in Spanish and education.

John Russ Married In Ukiah; George Dooley Best Man

Nuptials were held in Ukiah for John Russ x-'37, last Saturday, with several campus friends in attendance. Leo Lippincott, William Schwab, and George Dooley stood up for the former student.

In a visit to the campus early in the week, Russ explained that he was at present taking a course in animal husbandry at the California agricultural school at Davis. He plans to settle in Eureka when his course is completed.

John was the third brother to attend Saint Mary's, Joe and Herb having been students at the Old Brickpile and at Moraga. The bride was formerly a student at Dominican college.

Graduates Return From Two Month European Trip

A two-months' trip that brought them to England, Ireland, and France was brought to a conclusion when George and Edward McKeever, graduates of some years back, returned to San Francisco last Wednesday.

A stay in Ireland consumed most of the trip, the brothers visiting relatives in Londonderry and the northern counties. The Free State was also explored, and visits were made to Dublin, the lakes of Killarney and Connemara.

In England, London and the Shakespeare country attracted the tourists. The stay in Paris was given over to an intensive examination of the gay city from cellar to garret, so that the rest of France was left over to another expedition.

Both George and Ed are brothers of Brother Ralph, who made a jaunt to Europe six or seven years ago.

Speakers Named For Santa Clara Rally Dance

'Buck' Shaw, Madigan Invited to Attend Annual Event

Speakers for the annual Saint Mary's-Santa Clara rally-dance to be held in Madigan gymnasium, Thursday evening, November 10 have been selected, according to Harry Hooper, grand knight of the campus Knights of Columbus, sponsors of the affair.

Heading the invited speakers will be Laurence "Buck" Shaw, head football coach at University of Santa Clara, Joseph Kennedy, Saint Mary's perennial freshman, and Edward "Slip" Madigan, local director of athletics, Hooper stated. As yet no master of ceremonies has been selected, Hooper stated, but one will be chosen next week.

As for entertainment, a tumbling team has been invited from San Francisco to furnish part of the evening's entertainment. Jack Kelly and his orchestra will play for the rally and dance. Other entertainers will be contacted in the coming week, Hooper states.

Invitations to the rally dance have been extended this week to College of the Holy Names, Mills College, San Francisco College for Women, Dominican College, and Newman club of the University of California.

Admission to the rally is free. A nominal fee of fifty cents will be charged to gentlemen; women admitted free.

Four Gaels Prefer Auto to Train So Drive to Fordham by creating a problem for those who would care to spend student body funds.

Make Great Circle

Variety will be the keynote of the sextet as they traverse the country from end to end. Going to New York they will travel on the Lincoln highway, making stops at Salt Lake City, Omaha, Chicago, South Bend, where they will visit Notre Dame, and thence to New York as quickly as possible.

While in the metropolitan area they will stay at Manhattan college, conducted by the Christian Brothers.

Returning stops will be made in New Jersey, Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., Pittsburgh, and on west as far as Kansas City.

At that point the nose of the automobile will be turned south and the Gael enthusiasts will get a touch of the southwest as they travel through Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona, entering their state by way of Barstow and then coming down the home stretch in time to witness the Santa Clara game closing the season for the Gaels.

First Time East

For four members of the party, Meitz, MacPhail, Sinnott, and Feeney, it is the first time they have visited the eastern part of the country. Both Hurley and Smith have made the trip before. Hurley went as a member of the varsity in 1936 and 1937, a broken leg in the early part of the latter season bringing his playing career to a sudden end, while Smith made the trip last year as a member of the excursion which annually goes east to see the intersectional encounter.

Librarian Produces Beautiful Backyard By Working On Grounds In Spare Moments

Say what you want about the landscaping, and the difficulties encountered in beautifying the college, but it is a fact that we have one of the most beautiful backyards in the world.

Responsible for this condition is no one else but Brother Clement, librarian. Tired of the flowers of literature and the gaudy jackets of the new books that flow into the library, he instituted, in a single-handed fashion a back-to-the-land movement which has borne great results.

Picking out a mere half-acre a year or so ago, the librarian "borrowed" a spade, a rake and a hoe, and set out the land in petunias and other old-fashioned flowers.

Now he nurtures a good two acres of flowers: verbenas, hollyhocks, marigolds —the smelly kind—, zinnias, flags and cosmas. Besides he has carpeted over a half-acre of black adobe with lippia grass and slaughtered countless multitudes of pestiferous weeds.

Effects of his labors, which begin as early as 6:45 in the morning, and are accomplished at odd times during the day, are that the brightest spot in the campus lies behind the administration building.

Asked the secret of his success, the librarian, presented a simple formula: first, you dig up the ground; second, you plant the flowers; third, you keep them planted, and give them plenty of water; lastly, you keep on digging.

Rumor has it that other gardeners on the campus, whenever they are looking for flowers to decorate the altars or the dining-rooms or other places, pick them not from the front yard but from the back. Brother Clement's garden keeps expanding from month to month, and blooms all the year 'round.

Rams Learn of Gael Scholastic Work in Article

Scholastic as well as athletic advantages of Saint Mary's College were described to students, alumni and friends of Fordham University in an article featured in The Fordham Alumni Magazine of this month.

"Our Grid Opponents From the Scholastic Angle" was the title of the article that told of the achievements in education of Fordham University's transcontinental football rival.

The magazine also printed a picture of the Saint Mary's campus taken from the water tanks.

Also described scholastically in the article were New York University, University of North Carolina, University of Oregon, University of Pittsburgh, University of South Carolina, Upsala College and Waynesburg College.

Outdoor Men May Secure US Positions

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced open competitive examinations for the positions named below.

Multilith operator, $1,440 a year, for appointment in Washington, D. C., only. Applicants must have had at least three months' full-time paid experience in the operation of a multilith machine. They must have reached their eighteenth but must not have passed their fifty-third birthday. Closing dates for this examination are November 14, 1938, if applications are received from states east of Colorado, and November 17, 1938, if received from Colorado and states westward.

Deputy United States Game Management Agent, $1,800 a year, Bureau of Biological Survey, Department of Agriculture. High school education or a mental test is required; and certain game management experience or similar experience, except for the partial substitution of college work. Applicants must have reached their twenty-fifth but must not have passed their fortieth birthday. Closing dates for this examination are November 15, 1938, if received from states east of Colorado, and November 18, 1938, if received from Colorado and states westward.

Full information may be obtained from the Secretary of the United States Civil Service Board of Examiners at the post office or custom house in any city which has a post office of the first or second class, or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

Saint Mary's Club Notes

An enthusiastic group attended the meeting on Oct. 19. It is gratifying to see the large gathering month after month and speaks well for membership and also points to the healthy condition of our organization.

———

Genial Al Quinn brought a new member into the fold last week. The gentleman although new to the club is an old friend of Saint Mary's and has on previous occasions been found on the Saint Mary's side of the stadium cheering the Gaels on to victory. He is Governor Frank F. Merriam of California. We are honored at having such a distinguished personage as a brother member.

———

At the meeting Brother Josephus conveyed the appreciation of the Brothers and of band leader McTigue for the splendid flags given by the club. Past President Charles Barry arose to state that the flags were grand, but he likes Irish tunes. The "Flat Foot Floogie" and the "Mulberry Bush" may be all right for Vassar, but he wants to see how the Gaels would truck on Joe Hickey's pasture to "The Old Shillelah" or "Garryowen." The only dissenter was Bob Kinsky in favor of a rhapsody. Judge Herbert Kaufman rolled them in the aisles with a clever story as did Dan Looney, the latter one of our newer brothers. Other spellbinders were Tom Shaughnessy and Maurice Guy, while Fred Adams came through with a report on the picnic that was 'complete coverage.' Guy, a former All-American himself, discussed the Gaels' chances in their last three games, and predicted that the Broncos would be very tough, but that the old Gael fight would find us on top.

The man in the Black Derby tells us that the Gael-Ram game will be broadcast direct from the Polo grounds. However, continue to send your postcards and letters as the Man in the B D has been wrong before—often.

According to Lloyd Kingsley, manager of Borden's Dairy Delivery Co., the way to beat Santa Clara this year is to see that Mike Klotovich downs three quarts of Borden's milk every day. Lloyd points to Joe DiMaggio and Frank Crosetti as examples. If it can win a World Series it should beat the Broncos. O.K. Lloyd send it over.

Brother Ed Jones, manager of the Barrett Tire Co., occupied a fifty-yarder at the USF game. When the Gaels ran on the field in their red silk pants he shouted "What attire, what attire. The best dressed team in the country." During the fourth quarter Ed was heard muttering, "They're tiring, tohse Dons are tiring." Maybe the good man is working too hard.

Come to the Monday luncheon, Hoffman Buffet, 619 Market street, 12 noon. Frank Murray thinks the luncheons are fine, but wants to know how the dickens we can stop everybody from talking at once. Don't worry, Frank, that was just a hangover from the excitement of the day before at Kezar. Joe Kenny promises to limit each to five minutes next Monday.

———

Bravest of the week—Danny Dee, the big engineering man who sat on the USF side waving a red and blue chrysanthemum.

———

Here are some Saint Mary's clubmen you should know: John B. Hance, U. S. Post Office; John F. Holland, jeweler; Florance Mahoney, Supt. John Cassaretto Co.; Richard K. Fox, Western Pac. R. R. Co.; J. Emmett Jones, Hibernia Bank; S. S. Mulroy, Hale Bros., and T. M. Rowland.

———

Tom Deasy will look up a quidnunc as soon as he arrives in Gotham and give him the lowdown on the team. He will be assisted by Joe Fitzgerald.

New Bed of Pansies Will Make Campus Appearance Soon

Local Bridge Gets Coat of Paint from Grounds Crew

A new bed of pansies to make their blossoming appearance this spring has recently been planted by the yard crew directly in front of the Chapel at Saint Mary's college. The plot of ground covers about twelve hundred square feet which, in the future, will be covered with a bright assortment of natural colors to blend with the Spanish design and atmosphere of the college.

Painting the bridge with a brilliant white paint has recently been announced as completed by Clarence Hamilton, superintendent of grounds, who also stated that the buildings immediately adjacent to the school's railroad station have likewise been recovered in white.

All weed-infested garden plots adjacent to the dormitories are to be cultivated during the next three weeks by freshman members of the yard crew.

Large weeping willows are to be planted in front of Dante and Galileo halls, immediately prior to the Christmas holidays, and fast growing vines are to be grown on the fences around the tennis courts. The latter improvement will serve both as a windbreak and a background for the tennis players.

Wooden walks are now being built from the freshman dormitory to the tennis courts below, as an aid to going back and forth from the baseball diamond in wet weather.

Library Obtains Number of New Books on Church

Heading a list of six new library acquisitions is a book entitled "Frontiers of Faith and Reason" by Father Vincent McNabb, O.P., which contains a number of essays published throughout the years, dealing with such topics as Biblical criticism, infallibility, doubt, marriage, and other like matters.

In this book, Father McNabb comments on the relation of the Church with the Bible, stating: "Many of those inside the Church and almost all outside the Church fail to recognize that the witness of the Bible and even of the New Testament is nowise necessary either to the being or to the defense of the Church."

Other books obtained during the week, Brother Clement, librarian, stated, include "An Introduction to the Textual Criticism of the New Testament" by Leo Vaganay; "A Personalist Manifesto" by Emmanuel Mounier; "Doctrine of Spiritual Perfection" by Anselm Stolz; "The Catholic Doctor" by A. Bonnar; and the "Annual Report of the Smithsonian Institution."

Sanctuary Society Schedule

The schedule of Masses to be served for Father Duffy during the coming week is as follows:

Monday, October 31: Charles Sill, Joe McCarthy.

Tuesday, November 1: Jack Kelly, John Williams.

Wednesday, November 2: Jack Kelly, Ray Moffett.

Thursday, November 3: Steve Stergar, John Cavanaugh.

Friday, November 4: Steve Stergar, John Cavanaugh.

Saturday, November 5: Al Lingua, Leo Englert.

Sunday, November 6: Barney McDonald, John Stewart, Bill Dooms.

Three and three-quarters millions of dollars in new money will be circulated in San Francisco during 1939 through activities of the livestock division of the Golden Gate International exposition. Thirteen special livestock shows will be held.

Keith Exhibit To Attract Art Enthusiasts

Complete Display Of Famous Artist's Works Arranged

Keith enthusiasts from all over the state will gather on the Saint Mary's campus November 20 when the Keith centennial celebration is held here.

On exhibit during the celebration in honor of one of California's most famous artists will be a comprehensive display of the works of Keith, including not only those of the college Keith gallery, but many others loaned by admirers of the artist.

Speakers Arranged

Speakers for the day have been arranged by Brother Cornelius, local art instructor, who is conducting the Keith fete. The talks will be interspersed with Scottish airs, Brother Cornelius indicated.

Listed on the program which will be given in the lounge of de la Salle lounge are Archibald Treat, speaking on "The Personality of Keith"; Frederick H. Mayer, who will talk on "Character and Influence of Keith Art," and Brother Cornelius, who will lecture on "Keith and the People."

Benediction in the college chapel with the sublime chant by the student Brothers' choir will conclude the day's program.

Keith's works will be on display from 9:00 a.m. to noon, and from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. during the celebration. Other hours can be had by arrangements. Admission to the display of Keith's paintings is free.

Lunch Served

A Sacramento Northern train will leave San Francisco at 10:40 the morning of the exhibition, Oakland at 11:10 and will arrive at Saint Mary's at 11:38.

Lunch will be served on the campus in the college dining hall for those who wish it at 50c per plate.

A large crowd is expected by Brother Cornelius, who reports that there are at least 600 Keith enthusiasts of which he has knowledge, and that all have been contacted by him through a circular letter which he has sent out recently.

Collegian Errs; Only Two Footballers Buy ASSMC Cards

Faulty foresight on the part of the COLLEGIAN in regard to the purchase of student body cards by athletes resulted in an error in sales figures.

Instead of all athletes having purchased ASSMC cards as stated last week, it was revealed by Secretary Norman MacPhail that but two footballers have so far obtained their cards.

Dante Club Men Entertain at Social Program

Holding the second social program of the year, members of the Dante club met last night in an "all-Dante club" entertainment night, according to Walter Calcagno, president of the local Italian society.

The affair was strictly a membership affair, with the local Italian members furnishing music and entertainment. Solos were played by Ilo Scatena, vice-president of the club, Charles Mori, and Anthony Felice, saxaphone players, and a vocal solo was rendered by Morris Charters. Community singing rounded the evening entertainment.

Continuing last year's policy of contributing magazines to the library, next week three pamphlets, "Byron and Shelly in Italy," "The Vatican City," and "The Latest Archaeological Discoveries in Italy," will be placed in the library, Calcagno stated.

Brother Leo Speaks Monday on 'Ghosts Of Hallowe'en'

Speaking on "The Ghosts of Hallowe'en," Brother Z. Leo, professor of literature, will lecture next Monday night, October 31, at the Veterans' Memorial Building in San Francisco.

Tonight the noted lecturer will speak at the San Francisco University of California Extension building.

Yesterday morning at Santa Monica, Brother Leo addressed the Kiwanis club. His subject was the "Measure of a Man."

On Wednesday of the past week he also spoke at Berkeley in the University of California Extension building.

Brickpile Launches Subscription Drive; Issue Out Monday

With plans to launch an intensive subscription campaign looming on the horizon in the near future, the second edition of the Brickpile, student literary magazine will make its appearance on the campus next Monday.

Featured in the forthcoming number will be an article by Professor Henry J. Newson, a recent addition to the faculty. The professor's article will deal with education. He will try to tell of what he has learned during his career in big business and how he thinks that it can be put to use in teaching.

Bill Bettencourt of the COLLEGIAN contributes an article on "My Man Salazar," considered to be the greatest statesman of the Portuguese Republic. Herschel Smyth, this month will feature choice bits of gossip and will dish it up a la Winchell.

Freshman Debaters Will Encounter Santa Clara Twice

Two debates with the Santa Clara frosh squad during the month of November, and a debate in the lounge this coming Monday evening with California was announced by Freshmen Debate Manager, Al Lingua, as the immediate forensic program to be handled by the freshmen debaters.

Richard West and Louis De Alva of of the local freshman squad will uphold the affirmative side of the resolution; "That all state sales taxes should be abolished and the resulting financial burden placed upon the higher income groups," in the forthcoming debate with the Bears.

The topics for the dual debate with Santa Clara has not yet been definitely decided upon, as Manager Lingua is waiting for a reply from the Bronco frosh manager. A team of Horway Witteman and John Crosby will represent the Gaels in this November encounter.

Students Participate In Feast of Christ The King at Kezar

Students dedicated to the Catholic Action movement inaugurated on the Saint Mary's campus recently, will take an active part in the Feast of Christ the King next Sunday at Kezar stadium, according to Leo Haggerty, newly elected president of the Catholic Action club.

At a meeting this noon at 12:20 in Dante hall, the group to attend the celebration will be decided upon, Haggerty stated.

Instead of the president appointing a moderator and secretary, as originally intended; these two officers will be voted on by the organization at today's meeting. Pending the return of Father Joseph J. Manning, student body chaplain, from the Fordham tour, a chaplain for the group will be named.

All students interested in the lay organization are urged by Haggerty to attend this meeting.

Students Attracted By Annual Gael Photo Contest

Candid Camera Lads Expected to Go Into Action Monday

Armed with Leicas, Argus, Reflexes and plain Eastman box cameras, student photo fiends are scheduled to swarm over the Saint Mary's campus bright and early Monday morning.

Announcement of the annual campus photography contest, sponsored by Mr. A. S. Hofmeister of the Agfa Ansco Co. and conducted by the Gael staff to secure photos for the yearbook is the cause for the sudden insurrection of film-minded students.

All those possessing cameras should start photographing immediately, putting special emphasis on student functions and devoting less attention to the architectural surroundings, says Speckens, photography editor for the Gael.

Prizes Offered

Many valuable prizes including six finished and mounted portraits will be given to the winners of this contest. The conditions and full particulars of the contest will be announced in next week's COLLEGIAN.

Class photography will begin Wednesday. The freshman class will be first. Following the frosh individual pictures the varsity football players will be taken after their return from New York.

Staff Named

The complete staff of the annual Gael is Pete Lo Bianco, editor; William Miller, associate editor; James Butler, business manager; Bill Fitzgerald, advertising manager; Ed McLaughlin, Tom Feeney, and Jim Brady, sports editors; Francis Concannon and Bill Spehar, literary editors; Al Speckens, photography editor; Pete Sedar and August Gaspar, circulation managers; Lavine Bettencourt, Tony Lucas, Frank Madeiros, Bob Brusati, Dave Cunningham, George McPeake and Leroy Sarment, salesmen.

Raffle On Trip

Pete Sedar, circulation manager who is making the trip to Fordham with the football team, is conducting a raffle on the trip for the benefit of the Gael. He will also solicit advertisements from the various hotels along the way.

Sales are progressing steadily and a spurt is expected with the announcement of the photography contest.

Medical Students Aptitude Test

Quiz Prerequisite For Admission To Medical School

General information and scientific background of Saint Mary's pre-medical students will be measured in an aptitude test to be given December 2 under the supervision of Arthur S. Campbell, science instructor.

The test is being given by the Association of American Medical Colleges and is intended for students who expect to apply for membership in a medical school by autumn of 1939.

Having been adopted by the association as one of the normal requirements for admission, the test will measure the student's ability to learn material similar to that which he will have in medical school. The examination will also measure the student's ability to draw accurate conclusions from a given set of data.

Students intending to take this test must report to Professor Campbell by 3 o'clock on Monday, the recorder's office announced. At this meeting the number of applicants will be determined and arrangements will be made for the examination.

A fee of one dollar will be charged each student taking the test.

HIGHLIGHTS of SCIENCE

By Boyd Judd

It's about time to have another summary of recent findings, so here goes:

Castor oil and coal appear potentially to be the "silkworm" from which may be made the silk stockings American women will wear tomorrow.

A new theory of evolution for "exploding" stars, called novae by astronomers, has been suggested by Profesor George Gamow of George Washington University.

Ruins of the biggest vintage of prehistoric Basket-Maker Indians yet found in Colorado are being unearthed by a field museum expedition.

Scientists are commencing to believe that the male sex is the weaker sey.

A brand new pain-relieving drug has been developed at the University of California.

German youths have flat feet and can't march long distances.

Maya-like relics have been found in Oklahoma mounds.

Sulfanilamide, new and widely used chemical remedy for a number of serious ailments, speeds recovery from (hold on tight) lymphogranuloma inguinali, sometimes called the fourth venereal disease.

An entirely new human disease, the horse encephalitis or "sleeping sickness" that attacked some 25 children in Massachusetts, has appeared.

A glowing mass of hydrogen and oxygen gases, hitherto undiscovered, envelops large portions of the Milky Way.

A new device which, by determining the direction from which an approaching airplane's radio transmitter is sending signals, enables airplane dispatchers to know the direction of approach of incoming planes though weather condition may make the planes invisible has been developed by scientists of the Bell Telephone Laboratories.

New measurements have added seven miles to the diameter of Venus.

An accidental discovery in a research laboratory has led to the discovery of a new crystalline state of boric oxide which promises to change certain commercial glass manufacturing methods.

Judging from all these findings, plus a host of others, we can safely say that we are progressing in the field of discovery, though we do not seem to be any more civilized now than in ages gone by.

Professor Hagerty Addresses Catholic Action Meeting

Speaking in the second of a series of Catholic Action forums, Professor James L. Hagerty, dean of Saint Mary's Arts and Letters school, delivered an address Tuesday at Saint Elizabeth's parish, Oakland, on the topic, "What Catholic Action Has To Do."

Professor Hagerty is a member of the Archdiocesan Catholic Action committee of five. He lectures twice a month at parishes throughout the diocese, explaining the workings and problems of Catholic Action.

Madigan Gym Receives Black Coat During Week

A coat of water-proofing tar has been applied to different parts of Madigan gymnasium, particularly the large exterior wall facing the football field, announced Wm. J. Milliken, college comptroller, during the week.

In place of the heretofore tar-streaked white surface, the entire north side facing the swimming pool appears to be a black background.

This action was nececscary to keep the school's gymnasium in a first-class condition.

Many of the mammoth columns in the colonnade of states in the federal building on Treasure island are in place. Each state will be represented by a column at the site of the fair.

First Dance of Campus Chapter Of YMI Is Success

Local Council Now Has Working Fund For New Activities

Success of future activities of the Saint Mary's college Young Men's Institute was assured with the report that last Friday's "Off to Fordham" dance was socially and financially satisfactory.

Complete returns of the campus dance will be made at the next YMI meeting.

Success of the affair, Joseph Crosby, chairman of arrangements reported, was due to a great deal of outside as well as campus aid.

Clarence Hamilton, gardening head, sent several potted trees and plants for decoration of the gymnasium. William Kirkham was responsible for the decorative signs.

Cigarettes from Liggett and Myers Tobacco Co. were awarded as prizes in the "Kay Kayser" stunt put on by Jack Kelly's orchestra. The clothing dummy dressed in football togs was secured through the courtesy of Roos Brothers, as were several of the college pennants.

Prospective Teachers Told Need for Good Public Speaking

Need for perfect conversational English and the ability for public speaking were topics up for discussion at an open forum meeting of the Saint Mary's college teachers' association last Tuesday.

A second feature of the regular meeting was an explanation and discussion of the University of California requirements for a master's degree and teacher's certificate.

Brother Bede Edward of the education department, who is taking an active interest in the organization, according to Thomas Twomey, executive secretary of the teachers' group, was present at the last meeting.

Another meeting of the association will be held in about two weeks, at which several Saint Mary's graduates now teaching will speak, Twomey indicated.

Points discussed at the last meeting will be re-told to day students at a meeting to be held in a short while.

'Art of Thinking' Author Gives Talk Monday Evening

Abbé Ernest Dimnet, philosopher and churchman of France, will deliver a lecture on "Peace of the Mind" at Saint Joseph's Presentation Academy, Jefferson and Addison streets, Berkeley.

Although it is nine years since Abbé Dimnet visited America, he has a host of admirers here who have become acquainted with him through his books, particularly "The Art of Thinking," "What We Live By," "My Old World" and "My New World." Of him Sinclair Lewis has said: "The Abbé knows America ten times as well as most visiting English viewers, and expresses it with a hundred times as much sympathy."

At present Abbé Dimnet is Canon of the Cathedral of Cambrai, an official position which enables him to travel widely in interests of literary research and international amity. As a young man he became engrossed in English life and letters. He taught English at the College of Stanislas in Paris for some years. One of his first works to attract international attention was his study of the Bronte sisters. His books have a charm of manner and reflect a wise and cultivated mind lit with sparkling humor.

Tickets for the lecture on "Peace of the Mind" may be procured at Sherman and Clay, Oakland, at Tupper and Reed and the Cooperative Store of the University in Berkeley.

Brother Albert Will Attend Reopening Of Old Church

Saint Mary's will send a representative of old Dublin to the reopening of the mission church in Dublin, Alameda county, in the person of Brother Albert, president.

Closed for some years, the mission will be reopened with fitting liturgical ceremonies by the Reverend Father Thomas F. Byrne, pastor of Pleasanton, and formerly administrator of Mission Dolores and Napa parishes, and a good neighbor of Saint Mary's college.

Other Saint Mary's men expected to be in attendance at tomorrow's ceremonies are Leo Rooney, coach of the Pleasanton hig school, Everett Nevin, Saint Mary's graduate from Dublin, and Jim Murphy, sophomore, also a denizen of Dublin and the Amador valley.

ALUMNI NOTES

Annual Football Dinner Dance

Elton Lawless '27, chairman of the committee in charge of the annual dinner dance, reported at a recent meeting that the affair will be held on the eve of the Gael-Bronco game, that is, Saturday, November 12. A large committee working with Lawless selected the Mart club as the setting for this traditional affair. The Mart club is located in the Furniture Exchange building, Tenth and Market streets in San Francisco.

Lawless stated that this year the friends of the alumni are also invited, and a large crowd is anticipated. He stated further that the affair is not for the young alumni or the old alumni but for all of the alumni from far and near.

A subcommittee has been appointed to arrange for hotel accommodations for the groups staying overnight in San Francisco. It is hoped that all of the out-of-towners might be lodged in a nearby hotel.

Reservations should be made early by letter, wire, or telephone. The price is $2.50 per person. The office of C. Wesley Davis, 941 Monadnock building, San Francisco, SUtter 3321, is the place to make reservations.

Advertisers Meet

Five Saint Mary's men have inaugurated a luncheon club on Monday, October 24, for alumni engaged in the advertising business in San Francisco. The group met in the Trocadero restaurant and it is hoped that their numbers will increase for their purpose is to exchange ideas and be of assistance to one another and all Saint Mayr's men engaged in advertising.

Those in attendance at the luncheon were:

Bob McAndrews '32, of National Broadcasting company; Martin Hill '35, of Tide Water Associated Oil company; Phipps Rasmussen '35, of J. Walter Thompson company; Randy Smith ex-35, of Leon Livingston company; and Arthur Mott '36 of Lord and Thomas.

Congratulations

Felicitations to Mr. and Mrs. John P. Meany '28 on the arrival of an eight pound six ounce baby boy Thursday last. Mother and baby are doing splendidly and father is joyously passing out cigars.

Word From Here and There

The Mount Shasta alumni unit plans a special breakfast in Weed, Saturday, November 5, to be followed by a group listening to the Gael-Fordham broadcast. John Everett Barr '32 is chairman of the arrangements, and is being assisted by Jack Danilovich and Al Nichelini.

The records disclose that Wag Jorgensen's team at McCloud high school has yet to be scored on this season. Also Jack Danilovich and Al Nichelini are tutoring an undefeated team at Weed, while Noel Bonelli is establishing an enviable coaching record at Jackson.

A recent visitor to the campus was Jim Clark '33 and on his honeymoon, too. Congratulations, Mr. and Mrs. Clark. Jim expressed considerable technical interest in the two bay bridges for he is an engineer and is at present employed in Goldfield, Nevada.

Correction

In the last issue this column erroneously reported Phil Isham '38 to be working at the Grand Canyon, whereas he is in fact in San Francisco entering into the insurance business.

Future Lawyers Visit Alameda Court House

Public Defender Will Comment on Cases Being Tried

A trip to the Alameda County Court House will be taken next Tuesday by the Pre-legal club, it was announced this week by Joe McCarthy, president of the society.

The public defender will escort the group through his office and explain his duties to the club members. After this they will then go into court where a few cases will be heard and commented upon, McCarthy said. The trip has been arranged through the efforts of Moderator C. Wesley Davis and McCarthy.

In keeping with this idea of practical study as an aid to scholastic work, Professor Davis has also arranged other trips to various bay region courthouses in the future.

At the meeting last Tuesday plans for a law library were discussed. Mr. Davis pointed out the importance of such an action and requested that all members gather together material, especially pamphlets, regarding law which will afford a nucleus for a library. Brother Albert has issued permission for such a library but the place has not been decided upon yet, stated McCarthy.

Importance of briefing cases and reading all the available material is the main occupation of the club at present.

Professor Newsom To Speak on India

Science Instructor Will Tell of Famous Mahatma Gandhi

Students will be given an opportunity to quiz the engineering instructor during the evening, according to present plans, Dooms stated.

Arrangements for the event are being handled by Alvin Quittman, COLLEGIAN editor, and a definite date for the talk will be decided upon following consultation with the social committee.

At the weekly meeting of the honor society John Williams, debate manager, reported that the date of November 29 had been approved by Brother Leo for his annual poetry recital which is to be given in de la Salle lounge under APGU auspices.

The possibility of purchasing a charter for each member of the group was discussed, and samples of scrolls of other organizations submitted to the society for inspection. Action on the matter was tabled until a definite report of the financial condition of the organization is available.

Fuller attendance at club meetings was sought by the members by passing a resolution that each absent member unable to provide an exceptable excuse be fined a nominal sum. Author of the motion was Robert Fleitz.

Concluding the meeting a plea for more writers for the Brickpile, APGU sponsored magazine, was made by Paul Johnson, editor. The society voted to turn over all themes written by the recent initiates in the hope that some of them might be worthy of publication.

ASSMC Finances Handled In Inefficient Manner

TWO MONTHS HAVE PASSED since the opening of the present semester. In that period the ASSMC administration has lived up to most of its campaign promises made last year, but in that same period it has shown itself to be lax and inefficient in regard to ASSMC finances.

Despite the fact that the student body has received several hundred dollars from the sale of membership cards no definite report on the financial condition of the treasury has been presented to the students.

Despite the fact that a definite spending program is a necessity in view of the large sum of money at the disposal of the ASSMC, no attempt has been made to prepare a budget for the 1938-39 scholastic year.

Despite the fact that the California rally dance and the Brickpile raffle were student body-sponsored events, no official report on the financial outcome of either has ever been made.

Appropriations have been passed by the executive council, bills have been paid without any definite knowledge on the part of the council regarding the exact sum of money in the treasury. A hit and miss program with a vague hope that there would be sufficient funds on hand to meet bills and support campus activities has been the vogue for the past two months.

The COLLEGIAN suggests the following steps be taken by the administration in improving the handling of ASSMC finances:

1. That an itemized report of expenditures and a complete statement of the financial condition of the student body be published on the first Friday of every month in the COLLEGIAN.

2. That the executive council be constantly informed on the condition of the treasury from week to week.

3. That a budget committee be appointed to draft a comprehensive spending program for the 1938-39 year in accordance with the needs and importance of each ASSMC-sponsored activity.

(A budget committee was appointed at this week's meeting of the executive council, following a motion to that effect by the COLLEGIAN representative.)

In regard to the budget committee the COLLEGIAN also suggests that the budgeting body be given the power to require all those desiring ASSMC funds to appear before it, and to require the submission of an estimate of the needs of each organization for the remainder of the scholastic year.

Through a careful survey of the needs of each campus group the budget committee could then prepare a spending program that would be in keeping with the state of the student treasury, and a program that would satisfy to a great extent the needs of each activity.

Only by budgeting student funds can a satisfactory activity program be assured, for the record shows that in the absence of planned expenditures there has been a tendency for the student body to enter the spring semester with a treasury that is sadly depleted.

While it is quite certain that such will not be the case this year, there is reason to believe that the other extreme may be reached. When the end of the term approaches the executive council may discover that it has not expended all the funds at its disposal. There may follow then an orgy of spending to empty the treasury before the close of the semester. Under such circumstances it is quite apparent that members of the student association would not receive full value in return for their card fee.

A complete revamping of the ASSMC financial set-up is in order. If an otherwise satisfactory administration record is not to be marred, that reformation must be forthcoming immediately.

Fighting Spirit of Gaels May Bring Victory Over Rams

WITHIN A FEW DAYS the Gaels will gallop into New York to meet Fordham, one of the outstanding teams in the east. It was in 1930 that Saint Mary's first visited America's largest city, and it was in 1930 that the Gaels won their way into the hearts of New York football enthusiasts with an outstanding display of second half comeback spirit that has been characteristic of all Saint Mary's teams.

Trailing 14 to 0 at half time, the Gaels, led by Angel Brovelli, came roaring back to score three times and leave the field with a 21 to 14 victory.

Now, for the first time in four years, another Gael team with the same fighting spirit of the 1930 eleven is invading New York to meet a favored Fordham outfit one week from tomorrow. On the basis of their showing against an inspired USF eleven we believe that the season's record will read: games won, 6; lost, 1.

If the same fighting spirit that was so evident in Kezar stadium last Sunday is carried into the Polo grounds, there is little doubt that the Gaels will emerge victorious in their annual intersectional encounter. And they will go on from there to put the Santa Clara Bronco once more on the losing end of the "Little Big Game."

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

There's a time and a place perhaps to forget school spirit and time-honored tradition, but it is certainly not at a football game with thousands of witnesses looking on.

Through the entreaties of Russo we are once more singing the hymn after each game, and standing, too, while doing it, but particularly noticeable last Sunday was the fact that the hymn was rendered with no outward show of reverence to which it is entitled. At least the upperclassmen should realize that no hymn is sung with head unbared, and the freshmen should be instructed by those in the know regarding this tradition, which, by all rights, should be observed every game.

At the Cal game part of the section doffed caps for the singing of the final song, but at the Gonzaga and USF game practically the whole section was solid red and blue—both irregular and irreverent.

Hoping that hereafter custom and tradition will be observed to the greater benefit of Saint Mary's, I remain recpectfully,

SENIOR OBSERVER.

Moraga Musings

Awards of the Week . . .

Venturing off the campus to do honor to a most deserving soul, the Muser this week awards a hearty Bronx cheer to Coach George Malley of USF, who, by virtue of his statements in last Monday's papers proved quite conclusively that he is a contender for the "cry baby cry" championship honors among Pacific coast coaches.

To Milo Millicivich and Harry Aronson the Muser awards an orchid for their display of the old fight spirit that sparked the Gaels to their victory over the Hilltoppers.

While in a hat tipping mood, the Muser doffs his fedora to Bill Kirkham, who always has time to lend the other fellow a hand.

Did You Know That . . .

There ought to be an explanation of why Rod Stetson and Ed Tracy were not on the campus the day following the USF game.

Harlan Dykes' stories are just as interesting and just as hard to believe as ever.

The peace conference going on today would not be half so popular among the local pacifists if it was not being held at Dominican.

The biggest flop of an otherwise entertaining evening was Jack Kelly's attempt to imitate Kay Kyser and his musical questions.

Outlooks and Insights

The Golden Mean

"NOTHING TOO MUCH" is a motto that strikes down to basic wisdom. And it applies to ALL things, including good things. It is a good thing, for instance, to engage in introspection, to examine our conscience, to take stock of our intellectual process; but it is a good thing that can be overdone. As W. B. Maxwell points out, "Preoccupation about self is weakening and paralyzing. . . .In extreme cases it leads, if allowed its full destructive course, to the disease of melancholia, when the victim of unceasing introspection can do nothing whatever beyond brooding, when power of action has gone."

Some critics—I do not say they are right—claim that Shakespeare's Hamlet was such a victim of introspection. He carried a good thing beyond the bounds of moderation.

In a recent address at Queen's University, Canada, Lord Tweedsmuir, better known as John Buchan the novelist, said some pertinent things about moderation false and true. Here are some of them:

"I wish to divest the word 'moderate' of the sinister associations which are apt to surround it, and offer the moderate man to you as a type most worthy of imitation, a type more valuable, more effective, and, I think, more genuinely attractive than the fighting man, whose head is filled with battle-cries which he imperfectly understands.

"The opposite of the moderate is not the enthusiast, but the fanatic. But, before we find a proper definition of him we must get out of the way that false moderation which often usurps the name. The false moderate is that dreary type of being who, when confronted with a problem, always tries to halve the difference.

"The true moderate has moral courage. The false moderate, of course, has no courage at all. The fanatic has a certain degree of courage, but not the highest kind. Extreme courses are easy to follow. They only require blind eyes and a hot temper, and the kind of courage which temper gives. It is a far more courageous thing to insist upon facing the facts, even when they involve the surrender of part of your creed. One of my predecessors here, Lord Minto, when he was Viceroy of India, laid down in a public speech a principle which seems to me to deserve rank as one of the great maxims of public conduct. 'The strongest man,' he said, 'is the man who is not afraid to be called weak'."

An Orator On His Art

THE Catholic World for October, in its "The Ball and the Cross" department, has wise words from one of the most successful pulpit orators in the United States, the Reverend James M. Gillis. His specific subject is radio preaching, which he recognizes is a different thing from pulpit preaching; but what he has to say about public speaking generally is meaty and suggestive.

Father Gillis stresses the need of personal magnetism in the speaker. "When I say magnetism, I have in mind both negative and positive polarity. A current must pass from the pulpit to the pews and from the pews to the pulpit. Speaking for myself, I expect the congregation in church or the audience in a hall to do three-quarters of the work of my address. If they are listless, I cannot but be dull; if they are alert and afire, it matters not whether it be because they are with me or against me, I catch the warmth of their feeling. I suppose every public speaker will say the same."

Yes, and every actor, too, and every teacher. Speaker, actor, teacher—all three work with—not on—their listeners. Acting, teaching and public speaking are three distinct arts, but in all of them the psychological reaction of the audience is a prime consideration.

Ik, Ak, Uk

HOW do you pronounce the second syllable in the word stomach? And what do the dictionaries say?

In New England and portions of the eastern states uk is still in favor, and Webster's dictionary sticks to that pronunciation. More representative American usage, however, prefers ak, with the a as in fast, approved by the Standard Dictionary and the Century. No authority countenances ik. Yet when stomach is pronounced stomak, as it should be, a not too delicate ear will interpret it as stomik—the sad fate of many a short a in non-accented syllables.

Even though we resent being put down for ik men, those of us commendably fastidious in our pronunciation will resolutely, even heroically, continue to say stomak, and without undue stress on the final syllable. We simply cannot stomach uk!

This is at least one case where dictionaries afford prompt relief for stomach trouble.

The Bystander

By Bill Glackin

We have just worn out the only throat we have shouting the name of Frank Soares in the general direction of the middle of the third floor (we're on the second). This is by actual count the fourth time today we have gone through this painful process, and at the risk of being tagged as a chronic grouch we would like to register a medium-sized beef about the communication service in center dorm.

We would like to emphasize the fact that we have nothing personal against Mr. Soares in this regard, nor for that matter against John Sullivan or Tony Falkenstein or any of the other boys who have cornered the phone call market around here. We're not in the least jealous of their apparent popularity with the people Out There. All we're asking is that for the sake of our weary bones and failing larynx, somebody in authority have a phone installed on the third floor.

We were happy, in our own simple way, when we successfully staked our claim on the little sunlit cell we call—in our better moments—home, way back at the opening of school. It seemed like a nice room, with a good view, plenty of ventilation, and a minimum of termites in the woodwork. We liked it—for about five minutes; or, more specifically, until the phone rang. We then found out what we had not dared to suspect: that the only phone on the two floors of living quarters is ten feet from our door.

Since then life around here for us has consisted of a series of hateful little episodes, all agonizingly alike. The phone rings. We sigh, and try not to think about it. It rings again. We wonder, in our naive way, if any one of the six other fellows who live just as close as we do to the blamed thing might just this once get up enough energy to answer it, and then we remember the time we saw Bodutch, the bum, walk right by the thing when it was ringing, because he'd already had his call for the day, and we give that idea up. It's still ringing. It keeps right on ringing, too, just as if it knew all the time that we would eventually throw down our book, mutter a couple of unkind words, and go answer it ourselves. It isn't, of course, for us. It is never for us. And so once more, for the umptieth time, we step out of the booth, take a deep breath, and scream out the lucky man's name. Three out of four times we get no response, but by now we're beyond caring. Back into the booth we go, and trying our best to keep the bitterness out of our voice, we tell the operator: "Not here."

We can think of any number of reasons, outside of our own present pitiful condition, for putting in a phone on the third floor. We might, if we could summon the energy, work up a pretty good case to show how countless calls go unanswered simply because "Carroll" sounds a lot like "Merrill" when shouted at top lung capacity from one floor and thirty-odd yards away. We doubt, however, if it would do any good. We'd probably be better off if we stuffed our ears with cotton and forgot the whole thing.

Collegiana

By James Robertson

Today the sleeve of a scholar's gown represents the purse or pocket wherein a medieval Master of Arts stored his gifts from the charitable. Its amplitude hints that the master expected to receive more crusts than coins. Now seniors are hard at work at Macy's, go on NYA, or play football instead of begging. Who was it wanted to go back to the Middle Ages?

Hazards of WPA

Sycamore (Ill.), Sept. 2—Leaning on his shovel, Ellis Colvin, 46-year-old WPA worker, slipped and broke his arm today.

Heterogenea

Freshmen, like hurricanes, are always news. Down at Kentucky University rumor bruits it that a couple of hustling students are due to start a "Freshman Protective Association." It's probably become a certainty since the Hines mistrial.

Now that Hitler has closed his Czeching account, someone will have to take about three letters off the word Czechoslovakia so that it will fit on a map.

Here and There . . .

Kent College men have a protective association which blacklists girls guilty of gold digging, date breaking, and flirting with other men while on dates. Men members who date blacklisted girls are fined.

Harvard's graduating seniors marched into the stadium this June chanting: "Breadline, here we come."
